Bureau of Marine Resources officer Mike Stewart (far right) dumps oysters off the Bay St. Louis bridge. Officers David Rose and Rusty Pittman confiscated 52 sacks from Sea Fair in Gulfport Harbor, citing violation of state statutes which require oysters to be "mechanically refrigerated no more than two hours following harvest," according to BMR spokesman Chris Snyder. ## Bay council expands city gaming ordinance

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Bay St. Louis City Council discussed the expanded foundation for a requested city-wide gaming ordinance in a Monday workshop with gaming attorney Donald Rafferty.

Rafferty gave the councilmen copies of the new outline for the ordinance and explained to them the proposed additional provisions.

The ordinance, if passed, will regulate and restrict gaming, gambling, casinos, dockside gaming, gambling developments and developers, and the height, bulk, size and number of developments in Bay St. Louis.

The ordinance also will define the powers and duties of the developers, provide penalties for violations of those powers and duties; repeal conflicting ordinances; address taxation, emergency evacuation and financial disclosure; establish regulations concerning mooring and anchoring of vessels; and may also create a gaming district if the Council wishes to include provisions for one.

Rafferty's new outline has 33 articles that deal with the listed

Proposed N. Beach casino prompts traffic concerns

BY TRACI BONNEY

A proposed casino development on North Beach Boulevard has evoked varying reactions from area residents.

The Bay St. Louis City Council accepted a pre-annexation agreement Tuesday with Richard Kinst of Gulfport, who plans to develop Raintree Casino on a 10.5-acre site 2.7 miles from the Bay bridge.

Earlier this month, Mayor Eddie Favre objected to Kinst's plans because Favre said traffic would pass through residential neighborhoods.

However, Kinst included in the pre-annexation agreement a plan to widen and pave Engman Avenue and encourage casino patrons to use it for access to the site. He also pledged to build a fire station near the casino and provide a fire truck for it.

Kinst said plans call for about 450 jobs in the casino, and he pledged to give Bay St. Louis residents first choice for jobs.

He also claimed he plans to collect an extra dollar above the $2.50 boarding fee the city has authority to levy, and to give

Nereids rolls Sunday

BY JANET MCQUEEN

The Krewe of Nereids presents their annual tribute to Mardi Gras this Sunday, Feb. 23, as they parade in Waveland beginning at 1 p.m.

Approximately 80 units make up this year's parade. Twenty lavishly decorated Nereids floats portray the theme "Viva Las Vegas."

School bands participating include St. Stanislaus, Hancock High, Bay High and Pearl River Community College. Keesler Air Force Base Rifle and Drum Corps and Base Flag Unit and the U.S. Navy Battalion Color Guard and Marching Unit are scheduled to appear.

Several marching units include St. Clare Elementary, the Joppa Temple Shriners, the Magnolia Strutters and Ole Biloxi Marching Club, Bayli School of Dance and various Scout groups.

New float entries this year have been submitted by Hancock Medical Center, Bay Tech, North Hancock County Business and Professional Organization and Charles Johnson.

Judge approves Bay Cove annex

BY TRACI BONNEY

It's official: the City of Bay St. Louis has annexed the Bay Cove/Cedar Point area.

Although no formal objections were filed and no objectors attended the annexation hearing Wednesday, city attorneys John Scafide and Donald Rafferty built a case step by step in favor of the annexation. The two attorneys spent 4½ hours questioning 12 witnesses and submitting more than 40 exhibits.

Late that afternoon, without any fanfare, Chancery Judge

Jason Floyd signed the annexation decree.

Called to the witness stand were surveyor James Chiniche; Hancock County Planning Committee chairman Wayne Ducomb; Hancock County Wastewater District #1 chairman Emile Buccola; Lambert Land Company official Charles Lambert; Raintree Casino developer Richard Kinst; Police Chief Frank McNeil; Fire Chief Andrew Lizana; city engineer Woody Stieffel; State Department of Health employee Brenda Clark; Economics Research Associates senior partner Hawkins Stern of Virginia; CPA Steven Dockens; and Mayor Edward Favre.

Chiniche described in detail the area to be annexed and what the city's boundaries would be after the annexation. Questions directed to Ducomb established a lack of county zoning in the proposed 600-acre annexation, while inquiries to Buccola established a lack of county sewer service to the area.

Board rejects salary increase for Bourgeois

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

County school board members rejected all attempts Monday to increase the superintendent's pay scale, citing experience as the determining factor.

Discussion of Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois' salary, which was set $12,000 lower than her predecessor's, has been ongoing since a December 31 meeting. At that time board President Frank Miller defended the action saying, "Please show us something that points out or indicates that we are in violation of salary scales."

By state law the superintendent's salary can be set by the board at any given figure, so long as it is the highest figure paid within the district.

Bourgeois countered, saying as an elected official, she should assume office at the same pay as former superintendent Terrell Randolph.

Randolph was defeated by Bourgeois in a 1991 runoff election. Randolph was earning $59,800 in his 13th year of office.

The Hancock School district

scale sets first year superintendent's at $47,500 with increases

New meeting place for county school board

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

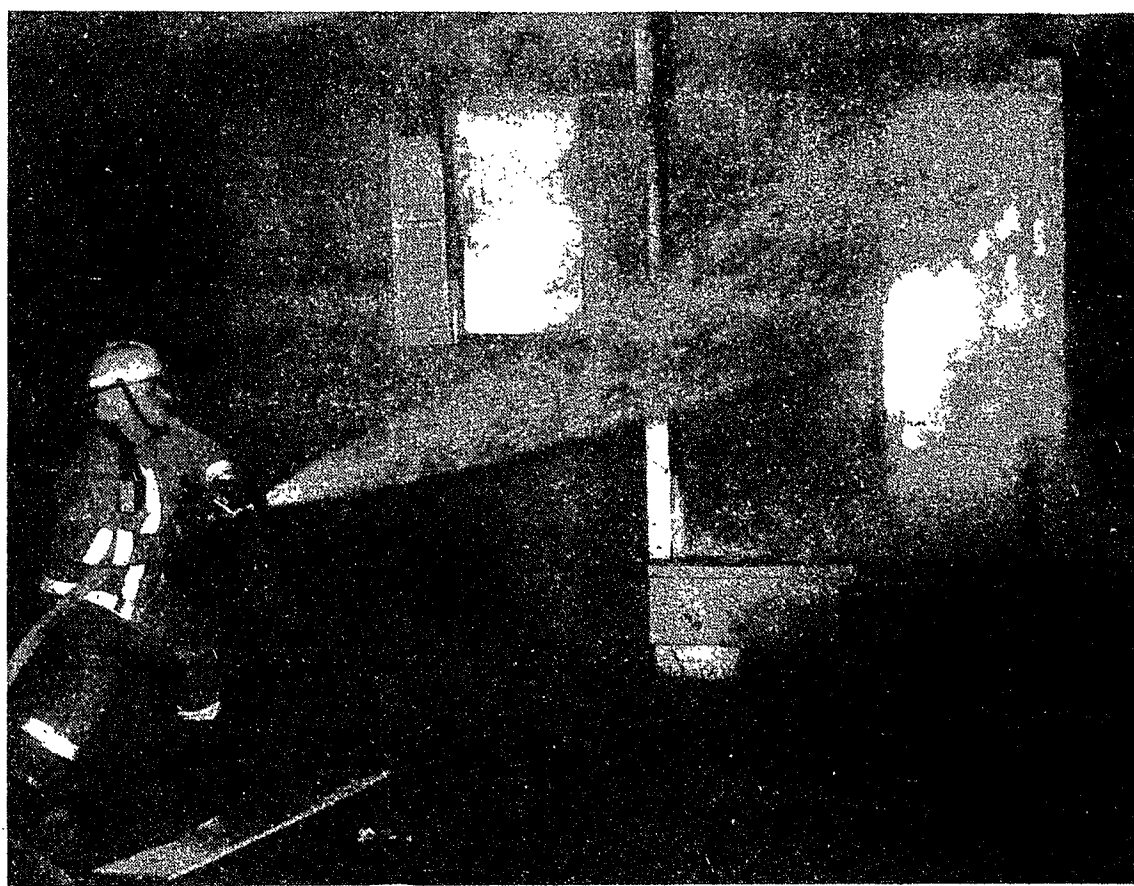

As of March 2, the Hancock County School Board will meet in the Hancock High School Library.

The move to the new school facility was approved by the board Monday in an attempt to encourage more parental and resident attendance.

Board members said the library area will provide better seating and viewing for visitors than the present board room located in the district office.

Board member Lennette Necaise stated, "Since the high school's conception, we had planned to make this move. Hopefully the larger area will make the meetings more conducive for public input."

The high school library is located in the school's front office building. Visitors may park in the front parking lot marked by the high school name. Upon entrance into the office building, walk either left or right, as both paths lead to the rear of the building where the library is located.

Bayside Volunteer Fire Department firefighter Danny Crabtree battles a Sunday morning residential blaze at 9182 Shubert Road. The 2:15 a.m. fire destroyed the home of Hellon S. ## Annexation

Lambert and Kinst both verified the City's pre-annexation agreements concerning Rain-tree Casino and a proposed dockside gambling/destination resort site at Bay Cove.

McNeil and Lizana each established that Bay St. Louis already provides police and fire protection service to the area to be annexed. Stieffel verified that Bay St. Louis provides some utility service to the area in question, and has plans to provide still-needed services.

Clark gave her opinion, as an expert with nine years' experience in wastewater treatment, that the annexation area's best option for wastewater treatment is to connect with the established municipal system. Stern gave his opinion that, from an economics standpoint, the area in question does need to be annexed into the city.

Dockens gave testimony that Bay St. Louis is in excellent financial shape and well able to handle the costs of annexing the area.

Favre summed up the testimony of the previous 11 witnesses with his views of why the City needs to annex the area.

"Since I've been with the city, that area has been talked about for annexation at various times. With the announcement of the possibility of dockside gaming, it became imperative that we do something, both for the area and for the City's benefit."

He explained that the only way to Bay Cove is by air, water or through the Bay St. Louis city limits. He cited the lack of zoning, and reminded those at the hearing that Bay St. Louis is in a position to provide utilities and services "to help promote an orderly growth in the area."

He also said any school tax revenues that may be gained would go to the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District, which the area is a part of at the present time.

Concerning the East Hancock Fire Protection District, which receives about $700 a year in fire protection millage and would lose that millage when the area is annexed, Favre said the City has agreed to compensate the district so it can meet its financial obligations on some equipment purchases.

After hearing all the testimony, Floyd signed the decree and dismissed those who attended.

The mayor, when asked how he felt about the success of the hearing, said, "Great, relieved. Satisfied."

He said engineer Garner Russell will now begin the preliminary work and start the designs for the sewer system for the newly annexed area as well as the remainder of the area annexed several years ago. The City Council had agreed Tuesday to execute the contract with Russell.

After the design is drawn and approved, the project will be bid out, awarded and executed.

Casino

that money to the city once he has recouped the cost needed to install utility lines.

Kinst said the first phase of the casino will cost about $2.5 million and will take approximately four months to complete once construction is started.

Residents of nearby properties reported reactions ranging from total opposition to mild concern.

Jean Reeves stated, "I'm utterly opposed to that. I think it's a terrible place to have gambling."

"I don't think that it's going to be good for the community,"

Lana Noonan commented, "If people want to gamble, that's their business. I just think it ought to be away from residential areas, that it ought to be remote."

Paul Vegas specifically mentioned possible traffic problems.

"We're very concerned about the traffic situation. If they plan to go up Beach Boulevard, I wouldn't be pleased with that. On the other hand, if they plan to route the traffic through a back way, where they can avoid the residential neighborhoods, I have no problem with that."

Bill Whitfield, commodore of the Bay St. Louis-Waveland Yacht Club, said, "I'm not morally opposed to gambling, but I'm not in favor of anything on along the beach. It's going to create too many traffic problems."

Nereids

The parade will form in the Choctaw Plaza (Delchamps) parking lot, and travel east on Highway 90 to Katy's Kandy Shoppe, where it will u-turn on the highway and disband in the Our Shopping Center parking lot.

Should rain force a postponement, a Nereids spokesman said, the krewe will parade Mardi Gras Day, March 3, at noon. The same route will be followed.

to follow each year in office.

School board president Frank Miller said experience was a consideration when the board originally established the scale in 1987.

He added, "A first-year superintendent could not, in all probability, function the same as someone with 13 years experience."

Bourgeois claimed her experience was in the years she served in administrative positions, compared to Randolph having been a coach/teacher when he first assumed office.

Bourgeois was assistant principal at Gulfview Elementary School prior to her winning the superintendent's seat.

Board member Carol Bustetter said, "It's not that we don't feel you deserve the money, but we made a scale we must follow."

Bourgeois pointed out that retiring Bay St. Louis superintendent Robert Magee receives $55,000 a year. "Whoever takes that job will receive the same salary."

Kay Sones of District 4 interjected, "They are in a different situation. With their board they can hire and fire their superintendent."

Board member Lennette Necaise objected to a salary increase, saying the district was facing a possible deficit situation with $110,000 in state cuts.

"We are not in a deficit situation," responded Bourgeois, "Those cuts are not until next

She added the board had earmarked $59,800 into the 1991-92 budget for the superintendent's salary. "It will not cost the district any more; the money has already been budgeted."

Cheryl Bennett of District 2, who took office this January, said, "The inconsistency of the pay scale from 1987 to present is one of the reasons for this conflict."

Bennett explained according to records from 1987, the salary scale was established and reflected a $50,000 salary for the then nine-year superintendent Randolph.

In 1988 across-the-board pay raises were given to all administrators, with Randolph's salary being increased to $59,800. At that time, the scale was not amended to reflect the superintendent's salary increase.

In August, 1991 the salary scale was updated to reflect a 12-year superintendent's salary to be $59,500. Accidentally, the salary update missed the additional $300 being paid to the superintendent.

The board again amended the 12-year superintendent's salary scale in November of 1991 to show $59,800, the correct amount being paid to Randolph.

Bennett's motion that the current superintendent's pay scale be amended with the first year of service set at $55,000 died for lack of a second.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It is Mardi Gras time for Hancock County. Parading action begins on Saturday at 1 p.m. for the Krewe of Kids in the Cedar Point area.

The fun time for kids will begin in the parking lot at North Bay Elementary.

This parade is for bikes, wagons and marchers. Lisa Cowand, organizer, reminds parents there are no motorized vehicles in this parade, which travels down Dunbar, up Boardman, to Leonard and returns to the school.

For further information, Cowand can be reached at 467-0506.

On Sunday the annual Krewe of Nereids' big parade on Highway 90 is scheduled in the Waveland area. Parade time is 1 p.m. and it begins at Chocklaw Plaza on U.S. 90, east to Katie's Kandy and then west to On Shopping Center.

I would advise parade-goers to arrive early so they can get a good view of the spectacular event. Every year it seems the Nereids parade gets better and better. Nereids will be followed by the Krewe of Eros and the Krewe of Hancock.

Nereids' ball was held last week with Donald Caserta as king. As most of you know, the identity of Queen Doris XXVI is a secret.

This was the 26th ball for Nereids, and its theme was Glitter Capital of the World, Las Vegas.

I am looking forward to very spectacular floats and costumes on Sunday.

Sunday's parade is a kickoff to a lot of others to follow in the area.

A school parade at Bay Catholic will be February 26 at 1 p.m.

On Saturday, February 29, the Krewe of Diamondhead's land parade will roll beginning at noon, and at 3 p.m. the Diamondhead boat parade is scheduled.

The big Pass Christian parade will be on Sunday, March 1, beginning at 1 p.m.

This parade probably has the largest number of floats along the Coast. It is sponsored by St. Paul Carnival Association.

Mardi Gras Day will be the annual Krewe of Real People parade in Bay St. Louis beginning at 1 p.m.

Charles Johnson reports a lot of interest in this year's Mardi Gras Day event, and he expects a lot of participation.

After Mardi Gras, we do not want to forget the annual Waveland Civic Association's St. Patrick's Day parade in mid-March.

Happy times at the parades.

Since this is the parade season, there are a few suggestions I would like to make to parade goers.

One is for parents to please keep a watchful eye on their toddlers. Some parents at times become so involved in watching the parade, their children are forgotten.

Whenever a parade is over with, the parade route often looks like a disaster area with litter all over the place.

A suggestion would be for parade-goers to carry along one or two grocery bags. Put your paper and drink containers in them, and take them home for disposal. This would be a big help.

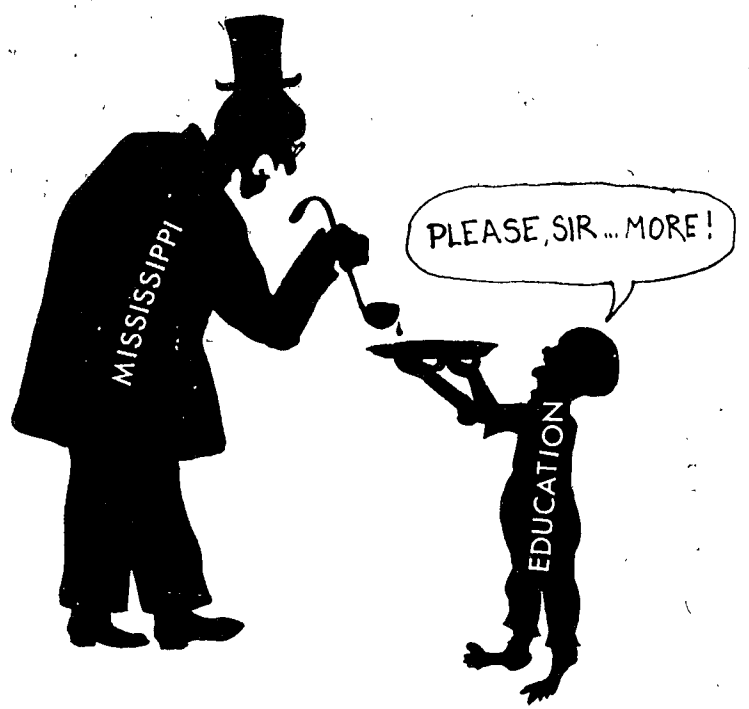

If everyone did a little bit cleanup, our governmental agencies' job would be made a lot easier, and it would cost taxpayers a lot less.

We need your help to be Litter Free by '93.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

A lot of $24.99 bar and restaurant tabs in Jackson

The Capitol Press Corps award for Mississippi's best work of fiction every year without question goes to the annual expenditure reports turned in by the dozens of lobbyists who play their trade around the state Legislature.

Always, the best part is the one where the lobbyists are supposed to list each time they spent $25 or more on a legislator, the threshold in the existing state lobbying law for which expenditures must be itemized. It's amazing that the $25 expenditure to wine, dine and otherwise entertain any lawmaker is virtually non-existent. That is, according to the lobbyists' reports.

To be precise, only .09 percent, or $5,684.50 of the whopping total of $6,012,683 (including lobbyists' salaries and expenses) spent on legislative lobbying the past three years was reported by lobbyists to be above the $25 itemized threshold for entertaining legislators.

The lobbyists' reports show that for the 1989, 1990 and 1991 legislative sessions, $585,000 was shelled out to entertain legislators, all of it under $25 per shot and thus not itemized as to the lawmakers entertained. That must mean there were an awful lot of $24.99 bar or restaurant tabs around the Capitol City.

That figure of $585,000 lobbyists said they spent on non-itemized entertainment is the one which is causing lots of concern among legislators who want to know where it went, since, they claim, they were not the beneficiaries of it.

Last week a rather obscure House committee which has not met in the past eight years was cranked up by its new chairman, Rep. Bennett Malone of Carthage, to get some more answers on where and how much money is spent on lobbying.

Malone, who heads the House membership on the Joint Committee to Investigate State Offices, said his main concern is that "too much money is being spent and is not accounted for."

The Leake County lawmaker said he didn't see any wrong with a legislator "going out and having lunch with a lobbyist and letting him pay for it, and you shouldn't hide it from your people."

Before Malone's committee went Secretary of State Dick Molpus, who has launched a major movement at the 1992 session to revamp and tighten lobbyist reporting laws in the face of the vast expansion of professional lobbying and spending to influence the Mississippi Legislature the past few years.

Molpus is pushing legislation to reduce the threshold for mandatory reporting of lobbying expenditures from $25 to zero, thus requiring all expenditures to lobby legislators to be itemized. Eight states now have a zero threshold, he said, and 16 states last year tightened their lobbyist laws.

In South Carolina, which was plagued two years ago by widespread corruption involving legislators and lobbyists that resulted in a number of indictments, a new lobbying law prohibits public officials from accepting even a cup of coffee from a lobbyist.

"We are not trying to outlaw lobbying," Molpus said, "we are just trying to make sure that professional lobbyists make full disclosure when they are operating in their own pecuniary interest."

His proposal, he said, would put the citizen groups "on an equal playing field with the professional lobbyists" in being able to persuade legislators. "I think we've reached the point where the average citizen is frustrated that he can't be heard in the Legislature."

There were strong signs around the Capitol last week that the heavy-duty lobbying corps was mounting its own counter-attack against the move to reform the lobby law. Their strategy apparently was to bottle up the lobby law reform measures in the House and Senate judiciary committees.

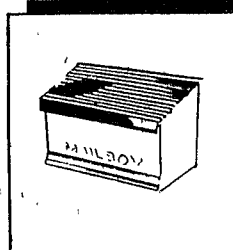

Most observers believe if the bill ever makes it to the floor, lawmakers will be hard-pressed not to vote for it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Weidman has courage to buck the tide

Dear Editor,

This is in response to a letter to the editor in your issue of February 16 under the headline, "Weidman is at odds with everyone."

Wrong!

From 1972 to 1977, when I held a position on a state commission, Stan Weidman was under my observation and indirect supervision for much of that time.

He held a management position and he knew, among other things, state laws on purchasing, accountability, liability and budget processes.

His fault, if indeed it was one, was his refusal to go with the flow on small matters that were questionable.

Some could say that he was overly zealous; others that he went strictly by the book; while others might call it nit-picking. But whatever, he had the courage to buck the tide and to stand on his convictions.

I don't know the present mayor. I've only spoken with her briefly a couple of times, but I've known two of the other aldermen and the city attorney for as long as I've known Stan.

I've always considered them to be my friends, but it is impossible for me to believe that they are right 100 percent of the time, and that Stan is wrong 100 percent of the time.

With a state attorney general as zealous in his duties as Stan is in his, he may be the smart one in voting his convictions.

I would expect no less of the alderman in my district. If he does not stand on his own two feet, but rather acts as a rubber stamp, who gets along by going along, he is not representing me.

Blue Ribbon Committee needed to be dissolved

To the Editor:

I have read several letters to the editor from a Mr. Goldman and feel it is time to set the record straight.

Mr. Goldman, I don't believe you ever attended a meeting of the Blue Ribbon Committee as I did. I do believe that I attended the last legal meeting that was held, and at that meeting, the chairman, Mr. Carroll Gordon, became very nervous, upset and short-tempered when asked questions by the public.

The next (and last) meeting of the Blue Ribbon Committee was held at Mr. Gordon's home, and the public was purposely excluded from attendance. This was a clear violation of the Open Meetings Law and should never have occurred.

I, for one, agree with the action of the City Council in dissolving the Blue Ribbon Committee after the gaming consultants were hired.

Boarding fee for casinos should be abolished

Dear Editor,

My wife and I have owned property in Waveland since 1960 when I was a professor of journalism at USM, Hattiesburg.

Neither of us is a gambler—except for a lottery ticket or two when I'm at our residence in Beacon Hill, Fla. However, we did go to the opening of the Taj Mahal, riding a gamblers' bus over from Washington, D.C., where we were visiting friends.

When we got in Atlantic City, a four-hour one-way ride, we were given $15 each by Merv Griffin's casino to play his slots. Playing only $3 each, we won only 50 cents and quit gambling for the rest of the day. We went next door to buy a cocktail in Trump's new place, while admiring all the fancy decorations.

The balance of the day was spent eating food, looking at the beach, visiting other casinos, and walking on the boardwalk until 6 in the evening when the bus took us back to Washington.

All the people on our large bus were senior citizens as they were on about 1,300 other buses that day. There were no charges to enter any casino—and when I lived in Nevada, one time for two and one-half years, there was never an entrance fee in any casino that I knew of.

I don't understand why Hancock County even considers an entrance fee to a dockside casino—a tax on the casino's earnings is more appropriate. An entrance fee will drive the buses to the competition where there are no fees—perhaps Vicksburg, Natchez, or Biloxi (in the future). If there are no fees, people will try more than one casino, walk around town to shop, or even eat lunch. If a person only wants to gamble $5 or $10 he's not going to spend $2.50 to get in the casino more than once or twice. Why not go to Louisiana and spend the full amount on the lottery?

Hancock County will have few, if any, Las Vegas-style "high rollers." The gamblers here will be, for the most part, a bunch of old seniors, trying to have a little fun. Don't take all their money away in entrance fees. (As for myself, I'll be 75 in March, and still like to have fun.)

Sincerely yours,

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

M-1

Bad news, good news, and the best news

Mississippians, distressed and frustrated over the state's fiscal condition, may find little consolation in the fact that most other states face the same crisis.

But, they may find hope in a review of the strategies some of the other states have adopted to meet those crises.

COST—the Committee, on State Taxation—which grew out of the Council of State Chambers of Commerce, has just published information as to what taxpayers should be expecting at the state level.

First, the bad news:

The majority of the states are projecting large budget deficits. While these deficits are projected, state governments have already increased taxes by $10 billion in 1990 and by a record $15 billion in 1991. Even those tax increases weren't enough to keep up with skyrocketing state government expenditures.

Now, for the coming year, COST estimates that another $8 billion in either new taxes—or government reductions—will be necessary to balance budgets enacted last year.

Now the good news:

There is a strong movement sweeping the nation to downsize state governments.

States serious about solving financial problems are going through the same streamlining process that the private sector has been experiencing for several years now. That means a reduction in the size of government and a reduction in state government expenditures.

And, the best news: Mississippi now has the opportunity—and the challenge—to join other states in bringing state government back under control. And, some state fiscal leaders are determined to do just that.

ON PATROL

From Echo Staff Reports

FORGERY

Bay St. Louis Police Department Captain David Parker reported the arrest of Kent Taylor, 32, of Bay St. Louis Friday for illegally attempting to cash a forged check.

Parker stated, "Officer David Sellier was dispatched to Hancock Bank on Highway 90 at 9:53 a.m., following a report by the branch manager that a black male subject had just left the bank after attempting to cash a suspect check.

"Sellier apprehended Taylor outside of the bank as he was walking away.

"The $360 check drawn on the account of a known customer was not cashed."

Parker added that Taylor was charged with forgery and is presently being held without bond as a result of violating probation.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT

Hancock Sheriff's Department Investigator Matt Karl reported the arrest Tuesday of Jeff Howard, 21, of Picayune for allegedly "hitting someone with a beer bottle in July of 1991."

Karl explained, "Howard, incarcerated with the Mississippi Department of Corrections, was on a weekend pass the night of July 31, 1991, through the department satellite program. The assault charge claims Howard was at a party that night and hit someone in the back of the head with a beer bottle, requiring the victim to receive 15 stitches."

According to Karl, the Tuesday aggravated assault arrest took place upon Howard's release from the Mississippi Department of Corrections.

He was released on a $2,500 bond for the aggravated assault charge.

TV THEFT

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Nathan Hoda reported that he is investigating the reported theft of a semi trailer loaded with televisions.

Hoda said Deputy Pat Glover recorded a complaint call February 15 that a trailer parked in the lot at D&K's on Hwy. 603 and Kiln-Waveland Cutoff Road was stolen. The trailer had been left overnight by the driver, who had disconnected the tractor to do some work on it.

The driver said the trailer contained 280 Zenith TVs worth a total of $225,000. The gray trailer had a New Jersey license plate, 483 TWH, and the word "Gemini" painted on the side.

Hoda said there were no suspects at the time of the report Tuesday, but that the case was still under investigation.

Anyone with information that may lead to the apprehension of a suspect should call Nathan Hoda at 467-5101.

FORGERY

Dennis Cooper, 29, of Slidell was arrested Friday, reported Sheriff's Dept. Investigator Matt Karl, on forgery charges stemming from a 1990 grand jury indictment.

"We had not been able to locate Cooper for the past two years, and we received a tip that he was in town."

"A description of the vehicle was given out on the radio, and we would have lost him, except for alert Highway Patrol Trooper David Kenny saw the vehicle and stopped it."

"Cooper was booked on the forgery charge and bailed out on a $20,000 bond."

Child survives being rolled over by car

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

An 18-month-old child sustained minor injuries after accidentally being rolled over by a car in the Catahoula community Tuesday afternoon, reported Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Matt Karl.

According to Karl, Elenore Smith and her son, Bobby, of El Paso, Texas were visiting with Christopher and Pearl Gibson in Catahoula.

Bobby was seated in the Gibson's dirt driveway, digging and playing. Parked alongside of the drive was visitor Evon Nelson, 33, of Picayune.

Nelson stepped into the Gibson's 1982 Pontiac Sunbird for a test run, as he had been working on the car.

Turning the vehicle onto the drive, Nelson began backing the car out towards the street. The child, Bobby, was below the eye-sight level of the car's bumper.

Christopher Gibson was looking out of a house window at that moment and saw the car backing over the child. He came running out of the house yelling for Nelson to stop.

Nelson had backed out nearly 15 feet when he saw a frantic Gibson; he reversed the car, moving it forward.

Gibson, still running and yelling, signaled to stop. Nelson did so.

Gibson, Alex Robinson, a witness, and Rickey Allen, a passenger in the car with Nelson, lifted the automobile while the child was removed from under it.

Bobby Smith was rushed to L. O. Crosby Memorial Hospital in Picayune where he was treated for minor injuries and released.

Assisting Karl in answering the call for help was Deputy Pat Glover.

Karl added, "I saw the child at the hospital. He was scratched and beat up, but he appeared alright, considering."

Rehabilitation assistance runs out for Jeff Colson

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Lakeshore resident and former jockey Jeff Colson is facing another year of recovery, only this time, without financial assistance.

Colson, a native of Hancock County, broke his neck as a result of a March 8, 1991 fall during a race at the N.O. Fairgrounds.

The horse he was riding fell with the right front leg going under and impacting directing on the animal's head. Colson followed the fall of the horse, crushing the C5 vertebra in his neck along with dislocating six other vertebra in a chain reaction.

Colson woke from surgery a quadriplegic.

Insurance coverage from the New Orleans Fairgrounds has run out, state assistance of therapy costs at the Sun Coast Center for Rehabilitation in Gulfport has been stopped, and Social Security disability status has been rejected.

"Never in my life, have I faced a more frustrating situation," stated Colson.

Today Colson is able to take four to five steps totally on his own. He primarily uses a walker. Through months of exercise and therapy, he has worked diligently to regain all that is possible; and all that is possible, will not be known for another year.

Though Colson is obviously better today than a year ago, he still has problems with balance and control of his hands.

"Regaining my balance," he explained, "is requiring special work through electric stimulation and heat therapy."

Colson needs a minimum of $2,000 a month to continue his present course of treatments. He has $200,000 in outstanding bills from hospital and rehabilitation center charges incurred last year.

He is presently appealing the rejection of his SSI disability application and is involved in legal action against the insurance carrier for the Fairgrounds track.

He intends to return to work next year. "I have a college education. I'm sure there are a lot of things I can do, as soon as all of this is finished."

"I have been told that should the work stop now, I will not only lose that which I may gain, I will definitely lose a lot of what I have so far gained."

For now, keeping his present 45 hours a week of exercise and rehabilitative therapy on going, has Colson concerned.

"No one wants to hear, I don't have the money this month."

Colson's family asks that anyone wishing to assist in the continuance of Jeff's therapy, please contact Eastover Bank in Bay St. Louis where account #2353552504 has been established in his name.

Jeff asks that anyone contributing, "Please leave your name and address, so I may write a note of thanks."

Heavy rain closes reefs

Oyster reefs in Area 2, which include the Pass Marianne and Telegraph reefs south of Pass Christian, closed Monday afternoon.

Bureau of Marine Resources shellfish program coordinator John Cirino said heavy rains this weekend required the closures as a precautionary measure.

Heavy rainfall washes sewage-related bacteria from the mainland onto oyster reefs. If eaten by humans, oysters contaminated with sewage-related bacteria may cause such disease as hepatitis and cholera.

Cirino said water sampling in Area 2 will begin as soon as possible and the area will reopen as soon as samples show that amounts of bacteria in the area are at acceptable levels. Barring further rainfall, these reefs are expected to meet acceptable levels within 5 to 10 days.

Oyster reefs in the East Jackson County complex and in Graveline Bayou in Jackson County will remain closed. These areas were closed because of high bacteria levels in December.

More information concerning the opening and closing of oyster reefs may be obtained by calling the BMR oyster hot line at 385-5902.

issues in their various aspects.

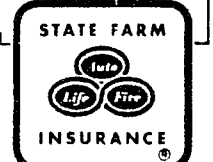

Now, in addition to establishing general regulations and the formation of a gaming district, the ordinance governs license requirements, applications and other documentation, traffic studies requirements; evacuation of people and vessels in various emergency situations, taxation and other funds, advertising, noise, hours of operation, fire protection, construction requirements and environmental impact.

The councilmen discussed details about several of the provisions. Rafferty told the men he would have the full ordinance ready for their study as soon as possible.

OLA anticipates spring sports season

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Undaunted by its enrollment of less than 200 students, Our Lady Academy fields competitive teams in virtually all sports.

According to athletic director Harry Hull, his girls have tackled everything except basketball (due to lack of a gymnasium). Soccer, tennis, swimming, volleyball, track, cross-country, sailing, and even flag football, have rosters of OLA students.

"Four years ago, we were the only all-girls high school in the state with a soccer team," said Hull. "Today we are one of 12 statewide."

The soccer squad finished the season with a 7-8-1 record, of which Hull is not ashamed, "because we play the best. There are only five or six teams on the Coast, so we play teams from Slidell and across the state."

For the past two years, OLA has traveled to Vicksburg for a tournament, and they also claimed the Catholic Tournament title.

"They compete in Class 2A track, where Hull said they are "quite competitive in distance and middle distance events."

OLA participates in three or four track meets, and 10 cross-country meets during the season.

Student Amie Geary was ranked fifth in the state last year in cross-country events, said Hull.

The tennis program is a cooperative effort with St. Stanislaus, and the mixed doubles teams will compete in 16 games this spring. Two eighth graders, Caroline Weems and Lindy Heitzmann, are well-known on the junior tennis circuit.

The school's volleyball team "has the best fans," said Hull, "because we practice outdoors since we don't have a gym."

"The one to watch is our intramural flag football team," he said, "which is coached by Paula Gaudin."

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Forget the fish—go crabbing!

It's time to go fishin' y'all. The word this week is crabs. Lots of crabs. Five-gallon bucket full of crabs in double-quick, post-haste time.

Not the two-legged type, but the type that you cook. I don't know though, maybe some people would like to cook the two-legged type at one time or another. Anyhow, the kind that are being caught this past week are the kind that most folks like to use to make gumbo.

I have to say gumbo size comprises the majority of the crabs being caught, as I saw very few large size crabs this past week. The crabs that were being caught were full and fat and would make a great meal.

The seawall has produced the most crabs this past week. The area in front of St. Clare Church, Jackson Ridge Bayou and the right side of Sand Bayou (west) seem to be holding the most crabs.

I did notice that most of the crabs were caught on a falling tide.

The best time was about one hour after the tide started to move out.

In the area of Sand Bayou, I saw one lady bring up her nets, and there were as many as seven and eight crabs in a net.

It goes without saying, but I am going to say it anyway: that the best bait for crabbin' is old dead smelly stuff tied to the bottom of a net.

As far as the fishin' is concerned, I think that I could catch as many fish by fishin' in my "rain gauge" as the few folks who went fishin' caught.

The salt water fishin' results can be described in one word—bad, awful, terrible, stinky, rotten and non-existent.

Some perch are being caught by the die-hards. But, they are few and far between.

Since the fishin' has been less than good, I decided to see what is going on in the "bureau" over in Gulfport. Sure enough, they are at it again. The same folks who brought us the size limits on red fish that have effectively closed red fishin' to all inshore fishermen are now about to "study" speckled trout. I quote the man heading up the study: "This will be similar to our study on red drum." Already Mr. James "Tut" Warren, who heads up GCRL's red drum program has made the startling discovery that speckled trout are not migratory and that they tend to stay in near-shore waters. I am not sure, but I think Coast fishermen and the marine biologists in all other coastal states have been saying this for years.

Well, take heart fellow speck fishermen, maybe some good will come to us eventually as there are big time rumblings from the legislature and the executive branch that a full investigation of BMR may be on the immediate horizon and that BMR may not receive any additional funds for anything until the investigation is complete.

We desperately need sound scientific studies on our resources, and we need the money to do these studies. I would think with trust and credibility all these things will come to us.

This week's wonderful wise words: the squeaking wheel eventually gets greased, or at least the cause of the squeak is looked into.

No report next week. Vacation, turtle.

Special to the Echo

On the night of February 10, the Krewe of Nereids celebrated their 26th annual Bal Masque as they took the audience to the "Glitter Capital of the World," Las Vegas.

Portraying the "Lucky Gaming Chips" at the Vegas tables, the krewe officers extended a welcome to the ball.

The audience, awaiting another spectacular entrance by the captain of Nereids, was not disappointed as she entered from a large slot machine. Her costume of blue sequins was accented with yellow and red velvet appliques and was framed with a collar of royal blue plumes.

Maids and dukes of the royal court portrayed the flashing marquee lights of Vegas hotels Flamingo, Excalibur, Stardust, Mirage, Aladdin and Westward Ho.

Queen Doris XXVI, personifying the "Spirit of Las Vegas," was magnificent in a tulle gown of bronze cracked ice heavily encrusted with Austrian rhinestones and beading.

King Nereus XXVI followed suit in his costume of rust velvet and bronze cracked ice echoing the design. Each mantle featured a cloth of rust velvet with appliques of gold crowns. Their collars were fashioned of bronze cracked ice with scrolls accented with champagne plumes. Their crowns and scepters were gold with rhinestones and stones as accents.

Natalie Abbott

Abbott, Kolodziej named HHS Star student, teacher

The Mississippi Economic Council has announced Natalie Marina Abbott has been selected as the Star Student at Hancock High School.

Star students are selected on the basis of academic excellence. American College Test scores and scholastic averages are considered in designation of the school's Star Student.

The STAR (Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition) Program encourages and promotes academic achievement among Mississippi's high school seniors, explained William B. Alexander of Cleveland, chairman of MEC's Council on Education.

"Top scholars are designated as STAR Students in some 300 participating schools in Mississippi. From these, the top 20 students in the state are selected, and the council awards scholarships to all 20 students and respective STAR teachers."

Each student is asked to designate a teacher who has made the greatest contribution to his scholastic achievement. John Saverio Kolodziej was designated STAR Teacher.

Abbott is the daughter of ViAnn and Jerry Cabezal of Highpoint Drive in Bay St. Louis and of David Abbott and Sane Voglewede of Fargo, N.D. Her honors and activities include: National Merit Semifinalist; first in biology competition at the Mississippi College Science and Math Competition; Hancock County Exchange

Club Student of the Month; Student Council; Drama Club president and director; SADD, Beta Club;

Quiz Bowl team captain, Trolwood Performing Arts School Summer Theatre Program; Esteem Team peer counseling; awards in Accelerated English III, U.S. history and chemistry, and Coast Electric Youth Tour.

She plans to attend Concordia College in Minnesota this fall and major in music.

Kolodziej, a resident of Diamondhead, is an engineering manager for Sverdrup Technology Inc. at Stennis Space Center.

He earned a bachelor of science in chemical engineering at the University of Notre Dame and a master's degree in physical oceanography at the Naval Postgraduate School. He has five years college teaching experience and two years teaching experience at Hancock High School.

Kolodziej and six other degreed professionals from Sverdrup Technology Inc. volunteer their time on a rotating basis to teach the junior and senior grade physics classes at Hancock through the Adopt-A-School Program.

Chalmette Scout's bravery brings award, trip to D.C.

Knowing the side stroke has paid off in more ways than one for Cub Scout Matthew Browning of Chalmette, La.

Matthew, the son of Carolyn and Michael L. Browning of Chalmette and the grandson of Evelyn and Alfred Resendez of Bay St. Louis, saved a drowning fellow Scout last April during a camping trip to Little Black Creek.

During Scout Pack 54's overnight campout in Mississippi, two Webelos Scouts swam out into the lake. One Scout tired and struggled to stay afloat; the other tried to save him but couldn't, and swam to safety.

Before the adults on shore could react, Matthew, who was swimming nearby, went to the aid of the 10-year-old Scout. Matthew, now 8, was 7 at the time.

Matthew grabbed the boy's hand and pulled him to shore while doing the side stroke.

From Little Black Creek, Matthew's side stroke propelled him to the White House, where he was the youngest Scout and only Cub among seven scouts in the "Report to the Nation Delegation" that represented the Boy Scouts of America.

Matthew also earned the Heroism Award, a national honor, for his bravery. The award was presented to him at the 20th anniversary celebration at Salmen Scout Camp November 16, 1991.

Matthew had his first swimming lesson at 14 months, and is in his fourth year on the Buccaneers Villa Swim Team.

He is the second Browning sibling to put his swim lessons to lifesaving use. His oldest brother Michael, now 23, saved a drowning person at St. Bernard State Park several years ago.

Not only is swimming a family tradition of sorts for the Brownings, but so is Scouting. Matthew's father received his Eagle Scout award in 1962.

The Krewe of Kids will hold its 13th annual parade Saturday at 1 p.m.

The parade will line up at North Bay Elementary and follow its traditional route — up Dunbar Avenue to Boardman, from Boardman to A Street, from A to Leonhard, from Leonhard back to Dunbar, then back to North Bay Elementary.

The theme is Kids 'n Mardi Gras 'n All That Stuff, and grand marshal this year is Sheriff Ronnie Peterson. Members of the Mississippi Clown Guild from Ocean Springs are expected to make an appearance.

LIVE THE LEGEND!

It is an election year. The White House is beset by economic problems and U.S. farmers are outraged by federal agrarian policies. Grover Cleveland is elected President in a stunning upset over incumbent Benjamin Harrison and the per-capita IRS tax is less than $2.50.

In Bay St. Louis the Mayor and Board of Aldermen met in regular session and directed the street commissioner to initiate construction of the new street Dunbar from Main Street to the beach. Marshall George Maynard sold three billy goats at auction. They had been arrested as nuisances to the town and were knocked down cheap.
